CHAPMAN CONCERT

Two Famous Artists Will Sing In Rockland On the Evening of April 13.

The annual Chapman Concert has long been recognized as the real musical event of the season. This year's Rockland concert on April 13 will be of exceptional interest, as it presents two phenomenal artists Miss Lottice Howell, lyric soprano from the Opera in New York, and Kola Levenne, the world-renowned cellist. Those who heard him at the Maine Music Festival realize the treat in store. He was the star of the last Festival, and received the greatest ovation of any artist there. He is now on tour as the only assisting artist with the great Chappin. When their tour ends he will have played from coast to coast. Mr. Levenne played in all the European capitals, making his debut in Russia at the age of eight, and has long been recognized as the greatest cellist in Russia. His single engagements are from $500 to $800. He will play music of all schools in a programme that will please all tastes. He has a most marvellous tone and a wonderful technique—simply amazing.

Mr. Chapman is enthusiastic over securing Miss Howell for this tour. She has been the leading soprano of the New York Opera Company for the past season, which has just closed in New Orleans. For the past three seasons Mr. Chapman has been anxious to present this wonderful artist at the Maine Festivals. She possesses a lyric voice of most beautiful quality and wonderful range. She will sing songs in English, French and Italian, besides her operatic arias, also a group of Spanish songs in costume and action. She has the most petite and charming personality, and quoting from the press, "she is a vision of loveliness to look at, as well as possessing a most glorious voice." Her singing of the Louise Aria by Charpentier last season was acknowledged by all musicians as the most artistic work heard there. She will sing this great aria at this concert, also the "Ah, for se lui," aria from La Traviata, by Verdi, which was made so famous by Madame Sembrich.

Mr. Chapman will accompany these artists in his own inimitable way. Tickets at popular prices will be on sale by the Wigwag Philharmonic Society, under whose auspices the concert in Rockland is to be given.

VISITORS

[For The Courier-Gazette]
Last night when all our prayers were said
And Nurse had tucked me into bed,
And the nursery fire was burning low,
I peered from my window far below
Into the garden filled with snow.
To see if the fairies, even one,
Mightn't be down there having fun.
Never a one!
But just before I went to sleep,
Beyond my bed I saw them creep;
Straight to the hearthstone did they go
And there they sat—a misty row,
Grey and sweet,
At my feet,
Humming low. —Anne Robinson.

WHAT THE ACUSHNET DID

Sturdy Craft a Valuable Factor In Breaking Penobscot Bay's Ice Blockades—Commander Shea Quelled Mutiny On Schooner In Rockland Harbor—Official Summary of Months' Work.

Written into the history of the worst winter the Penobscot Bay region has known for many years is the career of the Coast Guard cutter Acushnet, which was sent here from New Bedford, Feb. 27, to relieve the cutter Ossipee in breaking the ice blockade. The Acushnet in command of Lieut. Commander W. H. Shea, U. S. C. G., did such remarkable work on this part of the coast, that an official record of its career would not only be simple justice to the craft and its gallant commander, but will have an historical value for years to come. And the following extracts from commander Shea's official report are made:

Left New Bedford Mass., Feb. 27, under orders to proceed to Rockland, Maine, to confer with Fuel Administrator Lane relative to relieving ice blockades. Received dispatch enroute, from Mr. Lane requesting vessel proceed to Stonington. As pilot directions advised strangers drawing over 16 feet of water not to enter harbor, and Acushnet draws 14 and the waters were all new to me, it was deemed necessary to wait for favorable tide and vessel docked at Stonington wharf at 8:40 a. m. February 28. Took representative of Fuller Construction Company aboard and local pilot, cast off dock immediately and began cutting a channel through ice for two miles to Fuller Construction Co's quarry. The steam lighter Ajax, loaded with coal, was in the ice unable to move. The ice varied in thickness from about 10 to 18 inches and the operation of breaking through was aided by a gang of men dynamiting at intervals of 100 feet or more. By 11:45 a. m. Acushnet had broken through to within 300 feet to the quarry dock and was compelled by falling water to return to deeper water. The Ajax proceeded through the cut channel and made quarry dock at next high water. Mr. Manning, Fuller Construction Co's representative, stated that the channel was satisfactory, as remaining 300 feet could be dynamited. He also stated that there was just enough fuel at the plant for eight hours, after which time the plant would have been closed, placing 300 men out of work, and due to possible scattering of men, place company months behind in work.

At 8:06 a. m., March 1st, unmoored and cut through ice to Mill Cove coal dock. At the request of Mr. Lane, vessel proceeded to cut a channel through Merchant's Row, about three miles, and escorted mail boat Gov. Bodwell to Swan's Island, which had been cut off from communication for a week. Stood into harbor at Swan's Island and cut up to dock, then turned and stood for Rockland. At 3:57 a. m. came to anchor in Rockland Harbor to await high water before proceeding to cut channel to Rockland lime and coal dock. The four-masted schooner Sally Persis Noyes was at dock, as she had been waiting in harbor two weeks. At 6:30 p. m., raised anchor and began cutting through ice, making fast to lime and coal dock at 9 p. m., when vessel waited for next high water.

At 8 a. m., March 2, left dock and began widening channel. At 10:30 a. m., made fast alongside schooner Sally Persis Noyes and stood into dock, but due to ice between her and dock and falling tide, she could not be placed nearer than 50 feet from dock against the ice until next high water. 8:30 p. m., began forcing schooner to dock against the ice, and at 10:47 p. m. succeeded in mooring her close enough to permit her unloading.

At 8:06 a. m., March 3, unmoored and stood out of harbor for Searport. At 11:07 a. m., met Norwegian steamer Dicto fast in the ice five miles south of Searport. Told master to follow channel we would make. At 11:58 a. m., went alongside dock at Searport and remained in vicinity breaking ice. As steamer Dicto appeared stuck about a mile from dock, went down to him and passed aboard our 10-inch line and towed him to within 200 yards of dock, where he eventually made fast. The steamer Ripogonus, which was ice-bound off dock, proceeded out of cut channel. At 2:50 p. m., our rudder became jammed, due to stretching of wheel rope, wheel chain becoming kinked. At 5:59 p. m., moored alongside of coal dock and shortened up wheel ropes.

At 7:03 a. m., March 4, left Searport and proceeded to Rockland to cut channel to Spear's coal dock to permit barge loaded with anthracite to go along side. At 10:05 a. m., moored alongside Eastern Steamship dock, took local pilot aboard, backed off and cut through to Spear's dock. At 12:55 p. m., moored to Eastern Steamship dock, also released schooner James A. Webster which was held fast at a dock near by.

Underway March 5 at 9:05 a. m., took local pilot aboard and proceeded to break through to Perry coal dock. Reached to within 200 yards of dock, but on account of shallow water was compelled to back out. The ice up to dock was driven out by the northwest wind. Finding wind and tide favorable for clearing harbor, began slicing off ice and anchored at 1:30 p. m. Examined hull and found five leaky rivets in frame one and two and butt strap, port side main hold, between frames 17 and 18 leaking slightly and a dent in port plating near frame No. 5.

At 2:13 p. m., noticed motor fishing boat Flora C. and another power-boat caught between large floes, blocked from entering harbor. Got underway and freed them. Steam lighter Sophia, followed by small powerboat, which left dock with intention of shifting berth to another dock, became jammed in ice and it was necessary to tow her out. By 6 p. m., Rockland harbor from entrance to principal docks, had a passage of clear water a half-mile wide.

Following day proceeded to Searport to assist barges Oley and Elster but found they had been towed there by tugs Tamqua and Valley Forge. As Acushnet returned to Rockland, examined hull and found leaky rivets had increased from 5 to 29 and that the fore-peak tank was leaking two feet of water per hour.

At noon March 7, vessel is moored to Eastern Steamship dock, with a strong northeast gale and snowstorm prevailing, barometer reading 28.86.

Due to Northeast gale which prevailed on the 7th, the ice in the northeast part of harbor receded and closed the harbor. At 11:29 a. m. on the 8th, got underway and began breaking ice to Rockland coal and lime dock, preparatory to unloading schooner Sally Persis Noyes. By 2 p. m. channel was open and at 2:20 p. m. schooner was anchored clear of the ice, outside of breakwater. It was the intention to dock schooner Doris Hamlin, but favorable tide was lost on account of operating to keep channel open. At 3:52 p. m., moored alongside steamship dock.

At 11:54 a. m., March 9, unmoored and began opening channel again, preparatory to docking schooner Doris Hamlin; at 4:08 p. m., schooner was placed alongside coal wharf. Acushnet then proceeded to Stonington, arriving there at 7:25 p. m., making fast to dock.

At 6 a. m., March 10, left dock and began breaking through to Fuller's quarry, two miles away. At 9:35 a. m., was forced to cease operations on account of low water. At 10 a. m., again began to break through and completed cutting channel to quarry, returning to Stonington dock at 3:40 p. m.

At 6 a. m., March 11, left dock and proceeded up channel to quarry, preparing channel before towing schooner Nancy Hanks, which was loaded with coal. At 7:30 a. m., made fast to schooner and proceeded up channel with her in tow, but at 9:20 a. m., schooner grounded within a quarter of a mile of the quarry on account of falling tide. At 4:30 p. m., began manoeuvring to get into position to get line to schooner. On account of wind and ice, all efforts to back down into position failed, so Acushnet was turned at space off wharf, the only available turning space, and headed down, bow on, to schooner. The broken channel was about 50 feet wide and the good water, if free of ice, only 60 feet either side of broken channel. Effort was made to swing Acushnet's bow up channel by leading line from port quarter to schooner, backing and filling, unable to get over 60 feet beyond either side of broken channel. After over an hour and a half of most heart-breaking, discouraging progress of inches, Acushnet was headed up channel with schooner in tow and at 6:05 p. m., schooner let go her hawser, sheaved off, and dropped anchor close to quarry wharf. The channel already open, with only one quarter of a mile to go, it took over two hours to accomplish a task which is an indication of difficulties attending.

At 6 a. m., March 12, left Stonington and proceeded to Rockland for fuel. At 8:20 a. m., while headed for Rockland, entrance, the master of the schooner Sally Persis Noyes hailed Acushnet and stated his crew was in mutiny and that he desired assistance. Acushnet made fast to schooner and investigation developed that four men desired discharge and had refused duty.

The master and four men were taken aboard and landed at Rockland for adjudication of disagreement before shipping commissioner. While entering harbor, broke channel to coal dock, the southwest wind prevailing having closed the channel with ice.

Next morning, March 13, called all hands at 5:30 a. m., after filling up with water proceeded toward Searport in response to urgent calls of Steamer Ripogonus, ice-bound 13 miles from Searport. On account of snowstorm and thick weather, it was necessary to proceed at reduced speed. At 5:55 a. m., met up with Steamer Ripogonus, fast in ice nine miles from Searport. Passed ahead of her and began making channel, followed by Ripogonus. At 7:39 p. m., due to snowstorm, visibility being poor, old channel could not be located, course was uncertain in the ice and little progress was being made, so ceased operations for the night.

All hands were called at 5:30 a. m., March 14, but due to snowstorm and thick weather vessel did not proceed until 6:45 a. m. From that time until 5:30 p. m., vessel was driven through ice, getting stuck at times, averaging about a quarter of a mile an hour. As an indication of what the vessel was called upon to do, coal for about 450 miles and water for about 1000 miles was consumed in making a distance of 28 miles. It took 20 hours and 39 minutes to make nine miles, the last three miles being a slow grind. The Ripogonus docked shortly after the Acushnet docked.

At 6 a. m., March 15, cast off and began breaking ice around the Dicto, assisted by the tug Walter Ross. Assisted by latter tug, the Dicto was swung around and headed down channel by 8:20 a. m., when tug Walter Ross let go. At 8:23 a. m., began steaming ahead full speed with Dicto fast to our 10-inch hawser. At 8:45 a. m., was unable to start Dicto, so cast off hawser and stood down channel to open and widen it. At 11:28 a. m., had returned and was fast to Dicto. At 11:38 a. m., ten-inch hawser parted, but as a hundred fathoms was still available, hawser was again made fast to Dicto. At 12:07 p. m., started ahead and once Dicto was started through the ice, good progress was made until open water was reached, when hawser was taken aboard at 1:12 p. m. Acushnet then proceeded to Rockland for supplies.

Left Rockland at 10:53 a. m., March 16, and proceeded to Searport for fuel. Channel was slightly congealed, but the wash of our wake opened up the channel pretty well.

The vessel has been driving through ice now for four weeks, and practically all the rivets in the first three frames were leaking and butt strap at garboard plate, port side, near main hold were leaking slightly, shoe at stem was dented two inches deep for twelve inches long; reinforcement plating was bent between first two frames; plating was crimped from frames 22 to 38; paint, locker, abaft first watertight bulkhead, was leaking. As the work around Rockland docks and at Stonington had to be carried on during favorable tides, meal hours were not sacred to the crew. The operations were trying and tedious on all the personnel and especially hard on the vessel itself.

A MILE WITH ME

O who will walk a mile with me
Along life's merry way?
A comrade blithe and full of glee,
Who dares to laugh out loud and free,
And let his frolic fancy play,
Like a happy child, through life's flowers gay
That fill the fields and fringe the way
Where he walks a mile with me.

O who will walk a mile with me
Along life's weary way?
A friend whose heart has eyes to see
The stars shine out o'er the darkening lea,
And the quiet rest at the end o' the day—
A friend who knows and dares to say
The brave, sweet words that cheer the way
Where he walks a mile with me.

With such a comrade, such a friend,
I fain would walk till journey's end,
Through summer sunshine, winter rain;
And then: Farewell—we shall meet again!

404 MAIN STREET—GREEN FRONT

To the Citizens of the Town of St. George—Greeting:

You are the voters and tax payers of the town. To run a town and pay its bills, is, like any other business. It has to have money. You vote to raise a certain sum of money; you also vote to spend it. Taxation on real estate, personal property and poll tax under certain law conditions is how this money is raised. Every taxpayer is expected to pay his or her part to a collector without any trouble; otherwise there is a law that will collect it. You all know what you voted for in March 5, 1923, town meeting, about collecting them. Citizenship and co-operation are the first things we want to consider. Let every taxpayer check up and see if they are on the unpaid list up to 1923, if so, put forth every effort to pay the tax before June 1, 1923, after which date other steps will be taken.

Respectfully yours,

FRED H. SMALLEY,

SAFE STEPS:—The steps of a good man are ordained by the Lord; and he delighteth in his way.—Psalm 37:23.

LET US BE THRIFTY

Large sums of money have been spent by the Government in its publicity campaigns connected with the U. S. Savings System, all of it distributed among the big dailies and publications of general circulation, while the country newspapers were generously permitted to devote their space gratuitously to recommending Uncle Sam's investments to the attention of their millions of thrifty subscribers. While the war was on and immediately following those times of upheaval The Courier-Gazette joined its country contemporaries in this system of free publicity, but the time came when we declined to be a party any longer to such a manifest piece of business injustice. Correspondence with the Department has finally succeeded in evoking acknowledgment of this position. "Your paper," writes Director Lew Wallace, Jr., "has been selected by the United States Treasury Department to advertise Treasury Savings Certificates, and a new booklet which explains these Government savings securities. The selection of your paper as one of the mediums to carry the Government's message of thrift to the people was made after careful consideration, and is based upon the character and merit of your publication, and we ask your co-operation and assistance in making the campaign a success."

Very well, The Courier-Gazette is glad to lend whatever help it can give to Uncle Sam's meritorious efforts to encourage his people to practice economy and thrift, and we recommend our readers to send for the attractive booklet which the advertisement on another page calls attention to.

During the war the national savings movement grew in importance when war savings stamps and certificates were sold to persons of small means who wanted a safe investment, and who patriotically wished to meet the requests of the Government for money to carry on the war. But these savings securities were not adapted to after-war conditions, and a new method to carry on the savings movement was devised. The Government Savings System was reorganized and treasury savings certificates were issued to take the place of war savings securities. New life was injected into the system and it is now working upon broad lines. It is conducting a campaign of education to teach the people to save; to have them avoid the swindling operations which take hundreds of millions of hard earned money from them; and it is offering for sale a sound, safe and convenient form of investment in denominations within the reach of all, and which are fully explained in the booklet.

A THOMASTON MUDDLE

Complications have arisen in Thomaston, where Town Clerk Miller is said to have refused to place on the Australian ballot the names of the Republican candidates. He has taken the position that the list of names was not certified, and that the time for providing certified lists has now passed. The Republican town committee in a rather spicy session with the selectmen last night offered to legalize the list, but the town clerk, acting under the advice of the selectmen, refused to admit it. The Republicans are not going to let the matter rest there. Meantime the Democrats are being chided pretty generally for what looks very much like peanut politics and reprisal.

Perhaps the snow in Massachusetts has not exhibited such an extreme of depth as has distinguished these regions of Maine with which we are familiar, and yet there has been small choice between the two parts when it came to coping with the problem of drifted streets. In many of the Massachusetts communities of the size of Rockland the problem has been solved through the agency of a tractor, to which a plow was attached and which the powerful tractor sent through the snows with a speed and a thoroughness that made relatively small work of keeping the streets clean for traffic. It was not the policy to allow the snow to accumulate. As soon as it had been of keeping the streets clean for traffic, was brought into action and in no long time after the storm was past the streets exhibited themselves with the fallen snow pushed to the sides and the centers free and navigable. The dreadful conditions of thank-you-marks, of which Rockland at the moment presents so unhappy an example, have been unknown. The cost of the service, we are told, has been exceedingly small as compared with the expenditure that our city in this untoward season has been called upon to reckon with.

Mrs. E. F. Berry is confined to her home with gripe.

NEW SHOE STORE

Something About the Men
Who Will Conduct the Establishment At the Brook.

Miller's Shoe Store is the title of a new Main street business establishment which makes its bow next Saturday. It is located at 426 Main street, in the Everett L. Spear block, where the quarters formerly used by Heistad, the seed man, have been remodelled for the new firm's occupancy. The proprietor of the new concern is Benjamin Miller.

The new store is not so commodious as Mr. Miller would have liked, but it is compactly and conveniently arranged, and makes up in location what it may lack in size. Ten large overhead windows admit plenty of daylight, and the store is also well lighted by electricity. "Good merchandise of standard make, at popular prices" will be one motto of Miller's Shoe Store. Another will be "The same merchandise that Brockton and Boston handle at the same time." This is made possible by the firm's connection with a resident buyer, Jack Sandier, a remarkably successful shoe man, who conducts a chain of stores in Massachusetts, with headquarters in Brockton, where he has the largest retail store that the Shoe City boasts. Mr. Sandier does a very extensive wholesale as well as retail business. He is in the city for the opening, accompanied by his father, A. Sandier, both have been frequent visitors to this city in the past, and have many friends here.

Miller's Shoe Store will specialize in the Educator, Ralston and School Street shoes, and on Saturday they will be able to show their customers some very attractive types for men, women and children, at prices which are no less attractive.

The new Rockland merchant is by no means a new Rockland citizen, for this city has been Mr. Miller's home 21 years. He has been a handler of mill supplies during that long period, but of late years has devoted considerable attention to real estate, and is himself the owner of extensive properties in this city. He is a 32d degree Mason and a member of Knox Aerie, F. O. E. Mrs. Miller is a member of Golden Rod Chapter, O. E. S. The Millers have one son, Lawrence, who will graduate from Rockland High School in June as president of his class, and who has been manager of the school football and baseball teams. There is another child, Constance, who is in the primary grades.

The manager of the Miller Shoe Store is Ralph E. Nutt, a popular Rockland boy who has been employed in the shoe business seven years, besides spending two years in the U. S. Navy as wireless operator on this side and in transport service during the war. He was employed in the shoe department of the W. O. Hewett Co. a year and a half, and since that time, except while serving in the Navy, has been with the Spear Shoe Store. He is a member of Winslow-Holbrook Post and Penobscot View Grange.

EASTER SALE

Congregational Affair Was a Marked Success—Mother
Goose and the Past Noble
Grands Present.

The Easter sale and supper, held yesterday, under the auspices of the Woman's Association of the Congregational Church, proved to be a pronounced success. The booths contained some wonderfully fine examples of needle wizardry and a busy crowd was in attendance all the afternoon. The supper was a particularly nifty one, and among its patrons was a large group in the western room comprising the Past Grands and Past Noble Grands Associations of the Odd Fellows. A very substantial sum resulted from the day's activities.

The apron booth faced the door and naturally caught the eye first. It contained a wealth of fine specimens of apron wear and was in charge of Mrs. E. D. Spear, chairman, Mrs. F. C. Norton, vice chairman and Mesdames Jennie Butler, Elona Tuttle, W. A. Healey, H. H. Stover, H. C. Hull, W. G. H. Spear, C. W. Sheldon, Cornelia Farwell, E. B. Silsby, G. L. Crockett, Cyrus S. Pinkham, G. W. Foster, J. E. Stevens, H. C. Chatto, E. C. Davis, C. I. Burrows, Alma Leo, Lillian Bicknell, Vina Ulmer, F. C. Knight, F. K. Clark, Helen Pendleton and C. F. Wood, also Misses Lois Keene, Harriet and Rita O'Brien and Flora Fish.

Some truly remarkable luncheon sets and work in fine linen that would wrest the honors from "Needlecraft" itself were to be found on the linen table. Mrs. A. H. Jones was chairman, with Mesdames S. F. Cobb, J. F. Cooper, F. A. Beverage, C. E. Gilley, F. L. Lindeen, C. S. Hall, H. B. Fales, C. O. Perry, A. J. Bird, G. M. Derry, M. A. Free, G. B. Clark, W. S. White, J. O. Frost, L. A. Thurston, A. L. Orne, H. B. Burgess, J. E. Stevens and Misses Alma and Ada Young.

The Fellowship League had charge of the candy table under chairmanship of Miss Kathleen Snow.

One of the big features of the afternoon was the Mother Goose Grab corner. Old Mother Hubbard's cupboard was much in evidence and it was heavily laden with attractive looking "bones." The Mother Goose of the fable was present in several variations. The exhibit was in charge of Mother Goose Evelyn Perry assisted by Mother Goose Ruth Lawrence, Marion Clarke, Margaret and Alice Heller, Virginia Snow, Besie Hunter and Muriel Stover.

The supper was under the chairmanship of Mrs. J. E. Stevens, assisted by Mesdames E. L. Brown, H. C. Chatto, C. E. Gilley, G. L. Crockett, R. A. Smith, C. W. Sheldon, C. S. Pinkham, A. W. Bowley, N. A. Fogg and Misses Ada Young and Anna Coombs.

The baby goods booth was a thing of beauty and very well patronized. It was in charge of Mrs. E. S. Levensaler, chairman, assisted by Mesdames J. L. Snow, R. U. Collins, A. W. Foss, G. A. In addition to the committees named there were many of the ladies assisting in all the departments.

CHARLES A. ROSE

A telegram from St. Augustine, Fla., received here in the late hours of Tuesday night, brought the sorrowful news of Charles A. Rose's sudden death in that city. No details were included in the despatch, but among intimate friends of the family it was known that Mr. Rose's health for two or three years had been giving way. Mr. and Mrs. Rose had spent the latter part of the winter in St. Petersburg, and were on the homeward journey when Mr. Rose's malady took a sudden turn for the worse. Charles A. Rose, Jr., left for St. Augustine on the day after receiving the news of his father's death.

The deceased was a native of Islesboro, and the last member of the family. After leaving his home town he worked for a Boston clothing concern. In 1886 he became associated with his brother, the late Eugene H. Rose, in the merchant tailoring business, which they had bought from the late J. G. Pottle. Together they conducted this business for 19 years, when Charles A. Rose withdrew in order to enter the real estate business with the late Chester M. Walker. One of their business ventures was the purchase from the late David Winslow of a section of the so-called "Lindsey Grove." This tract was cleared, a street now known as Beech street extension was built, and eventually Mr. Rose erected the slightly elevated residence which is now the property of E. M. Lawrence.

About two years later Mr. Rose engaged in the clothing business with the late Walter E. Mayo, the firm style being Mayo & Rose. In 1914 this firm dissolved partnership, Mr. Rose buying Mr. Mayo's interest and the firm style being changed to C. A. Rose & Co. The business was greatly extended by the addition of a wholesale department, and Mr. Rose was assisted in the management by his son, who soon acquired a thorough knowledge of the business.

Mr. Rose spent a considerable portion of his summers at Crescent Beach, where he owned a cottage. A particularly happy disposition made him a general favorite, and this genial disposition showed no abatement, even when the strain of ill health came on, and he realized better than others that his constitution was being undermined. Mr. Rose was a patron of all better class entertainments. One of his most popular diversions was the game of checkers, at which he became a player of more than ordinary ability.

Mr. Rose was twice married. His first wife, Brina Coombs, died many years ago; he is survived by his second wife (Alberta Brewster), one son, Charles A. Rose, Jr., of Rockland; and one daughter, Mrs. Earl Huke of Torrington, Conn.

Last Thursday evening Mrs. Edward B. Richardson entertained a few friends at her home on Warren street. There were four tables of auction. The event coming so near St. Patrick's Day the color scheme for decorations was carried out in green, the refreshments even showing the color as far as possible. The invitations bore printed emblems of the saint, and of Erin's Isle, the pipe and the shamrock. Souvenirs were awarded thus: Mrs. Knott Rankin, glass basket; Miss Anna Coombs, jewelry; Mrs. Louis A. Crockett, picture; Mrs. Walter C. Ladd, box candy. Steamer Westport will leave Rockland at 7 a. m. Saturday for Dark Harbor, Stonington, Southwest Harbor, Northeast Harbor, Seal Harbor and Bar Harbor, returning from Bar Harbor at 7 a. m. Monday and touching at the above landings. Two-trip service will be maintained until the Boston steamer starts, in order to take care of local business.

Miss Rae Holman, a talented Gospel singer, of West Somerville, Mass., will assist in the evangelistic services at Littlefield Memorial church next Sunday, and at each service during the week. Miss Holman is already in the spirit of the work as she has just finished assisting an evangelistic campaign in her home city, where 30 souls were converted. Her coming is looked forward to with much pleasure.

The Legion Auxiliary suppers at American Legion hall are noted for their excellence and low price. Another Saturday night, 35 cents—adv.

Radio is becoming very popular, especially with Bert Keep. Last Monday evening he was getting wonderful results listening to a band concert, which might be entitled "When the Leaves Come Tumbling Down." The wind was blowing a terrific gale, but he had no idea of the tempest outside. Suddenly a crash and the bricks came tumbling down. His first impression was an earthquake, but it was only the chimney to which the aerial was attached, it being dislocated by the wind blowing against a tree attached to the outer end some 200 feet away. Here is a warning. Leave plenty of slack. Bert wasn't a slacker, for immediately after he got his bearings he hooked on his inside wire and received the balance of the concert as if nothing had happened. And the smoke went up the chimney just the same.

NEW BEDFORD LEAGUERS

TONIGHT AND FRIDAY NIGHT

AT THE ARCADE

The Big Green Team is by all odds the classiest organization that ever played in Rockland. It won the first game 6 to 4. Can it win three straight?

Polo tonight; don't fail to see that wonderful "Big Green" team.

There will be a rehearsal in the Methodist church Friday evening for the Easter cantata, "The Resurrection."

W. C. Gamache will attend a conference of Metropolitan managers in Portland tomorrow. New York officials are to be in attendance. There will be a banquet.

C. E. Boman of Vinhaven was in the city yesterday. Mr. Boman is following with much interest the accounts of Legislative proceedings, as he formerly served in that body and has a son who is now one of the active members of the House.

Capt. W. H. Harriman has returned from the South, where he has been on a seven weeks' trip in the interest of Crowell & Thurlow. He was at Newport News three weeks, superintending repairs on the schooner Herbert L. Rawding, and from there went to Charleston, where he devoted a month to the schooner Horace A. Stone. Returning to Rockland he found the weather quite a striking contrast to the almost tropical weather he had been experiencing.

It is of interest to note the growth of the city schools. No lunches are given at McLean school, but several children bring the half pint of milk and are privileged to drink it at mid-morning recess. There are many children in the city who are dependent upon the need of the sustenance afforded by the milk, and sometime it will be available to them. But at present the experiment is a rather expensive one, as there are several in Tyler school, where the experiment is being tried, who cannot pay for the milk.

The annual roll call of Miriam Rebekah Lodge brought out the year's record attendance Tuesday evening, and proved a very enjoyable event. Supper was served by the men at 6 o'clock in bang-up style, and at the roll-call exercises in the lodge room a record number of responses in person and by letter were received. A program of excellence was presented afterward, consisting of several musical numbers contributed by Maiden Cliff Rebekahs from Camden and readings by John A. Karl, Miss Pearl Borgerson, Mrs. Grace Rollins and Mrs. Nettie Stewart.

A new departure in service is being tried out this week by the Central Maine Power Co. and if successful in this district it will probably be used throughout the system. The idea is to have a company represent the cover the list of users and see if the appliances are giving satisfaction and if not, why not. He has nothing to sell but gladly gives his advice and services in making minor repairs or recommending fixture or line changes and improvements. He hopes to cover the local field about once in three months. The new official is a Rockland boy, James Walker, and of course carries a company badge.

The second great game in the great series between Rockland and the New Bedford league team will be played tonight at 8:30. The Whalers won the first game 6 to 4, and showed a line of the classiest polo goods ever hung out in Rockland. The benches have been repaired in anticipation of Dufrene's mighty clouds, and everything is in readiness for the hottest polo struggle ever staged outside of the American League. Maybe New Bedford will make it three straight, but the Big Green team will know that it has been traveling. The third game will be played Friday night. No genuine lover of polo will miss these wonderful exhibitions of speed and skill.

Boston newspapers Tuesday announced the death of Capt. Peter H. Crowell of Melrose, Mass., senior member of the firm of Crowell & Thurlow which built a number of vessels at Cobb, Butler & Co's shipyard in this city. What death came to the venerable shipowner and shipbroker was at his winter home at Wilbur-by-the-Sea, in Florida. A fall 10 days previously was one of the contributing causes. He was born in West Dennis 87 years ago. When 12 years old he went to sea and at 19 became master of a ship. For 39 years he sailed to all parts of the world, finally retiring to become a member of the ship broking firm of Crowell & Thurlow, with offices at 131 State street. The American Legion Canteen opens its doors tonight to the public. This institution, which seems destined to become one of the city's most popular stands, occupies the quarters in the old Y. M. C. A. block now the Legion home on Limerock street, formerly the office of the Postal Telegraph Co. The store is newly painted throughout in navy gray and army drab. The western side is occupied by a handsome soda fountain and a large tobacco counter in which everything in the "smokes" line is obtainable. The eastern side is lined with confectionery and light grocery displays. Several fine lines of chocolates will be carried and in addition a full line of newspapers and periodicals. Baseball and all athletic contest results will be bulletined and a telephone will be installed for the convenience of the "irresponsible." H. R. Mullen will be commander-in-chief and most of the crew of the canteen, and extends to the general public a cordial invitation to give the Canteen a call.

The Camden & Rockland Water Co. holds its annual meeting next Thursday.

The gulls in Lermond's Cove held their first rehearsal this morning, preparatory to the spring festival.

Patrolman A. S. Niles of the police force is off duty on leave of absence. Special officer Charles Emery is substituting.

Alterations and improvements are being made in the law offices of Frank A. Tirrell and Walter H. Butler, keeping pace with the career of those two progressive attorneys.

The annual roll-call of Knox Lodge, I. O. O. F., will be held next Monday at 7:30 p. m. Picnic supper will be served at 6:30. Those who have not been solicited are requested to furnish pastry.

There will be work on several candidates at the meeting of Golden Rod Chapter Friday evening. Mrs. Margaret Stevenson will be chairman of the circle supper. Please take your food early.

"I have six of the cutest snowdrops under my window," telephoned a Maple street lady to one of her friends. "That's nothing," said the unfeeling person on the other end of the line. "I have six cute snowdrifts in my front yard."

Elder N. M. Wilson will preach tonight and Friday night at the Gospel Mission in the interests of the Reorganized Latter Day Saints' Church. Mr. Wilson is a very interesting speaker. The public is cordially invited.

The basketball squad of the University of Wisconsin, Freshman girls, numbered over 200, and in that group was a Rockland girl, Miss Pauline McLoon. When the regular team was finally picked she was naturally among those present.

At the open forum of the Chamber of Commerce tomorrow evening the speaker will be A. M. G. Soule, chief of the Division of Inspection, Agricultural Department. The subject of his address will be "Meat Inspection." The banquet will begin at 6:30, and those who have not already obtained reservations should do so today.

City Solicitor Tirrell was in Augusta yesterday on business connected with the proposed revision of the city charter. The bill has been redrafted and will undoubtedly be passed by Legislature. Gossip in the corridors, according to Mr. Tirrell was to the effect that the committee stands 12 to 6 in favor of granting a charter to the private corporation which proposes to bridge the Kennebec.

Dorothy E. Holman, who died in a Portland hospital Monday, following a serious operation, was a daughter of William A. and Louise (St. Clair) Holman, formerly of this city. She was 20 years of age, and having completed her studies in the Nathan Clifford and Deering High schools had made plans to enter college. She was a member of the Free Street Baptist church and Christian Endeavor of Portland.

A half dozen Federal officers swooped down on this city yesterday and made two liquor raids, both of which were successful. A call was made on E. J. Mayhew, and several barrels of cider were brought away. Another visit was at the premises of Wilson B. Sherman in South Thomaston, where an alleged still and equipment is said to have been found. The plunder was stored in the Court House basement temporarily. No arrests were made.

MAIN STREET DEAL

An important real estate deal transacted yesterday involved two of Main street's principal structures, the Berry block at the corner of Main and Limerock streets and the Kimball block which adjoins it on the south. These properties, which were owned by Mrs. Georgianna Alden, formerly of Camden and now of Newton, Mass., have been bought by Isidor Gordon of Thomaston. There are interesting rumors as to the ultimate disposal of the two blocks, but nothing official could be said at the time this paper went to press. The occupants of the two blocks are the Corner Drug Store, G. F. Barbour proprietor; J. P. Gregory & Sons' clothing store, and the offices of Dr. R. W. Blackford, dentist; Dr. William Ellingwood, specialist, and A. L. Miles, attorney at law.

MRS. E. A. KNOWLTON

The funeral services of Mrs. Edward A. Knowlton, who died Sunday at her home on Limerock street, were held yesterday afternoon, Rev. B. P. Browne of the First Baptist church officiating. Floral offerings of rare beauty, sent by many friends of the family, surrounded the casket, offering silent cheer to the bereaved and final tribute to the deceased. The bearers were two sons of the deceased, Edward F. and Roy L. Knowlton, and two sons-in-law, George A. Wooster and Arthur L. Orne. The remains will be interred in Acheron cemetery.

The maiden name of the deceased was Harriet R. Hewett. She was born in South Hope, the daughter of William and Eliza Hewett. Her marriage to Mr. Knowlton took place Nov. 17, 1869, and the golden wedding anniversary three years ago last fall was made the occasion of a happy family gathering. Mrs. Knowlton joined the Baptist church before coming to Rockland about 40 years ago, and here was admitted to the First Baptist church, where several of her children were carrying forward the work in which she was engaged during her more active years. Her life has been consecrated to the large family, which she helped rear with a mother's most devoted care, and which was her greatest comfort as the years came on apace.

Mrs. Knowlton is survived by her husband, two sons—Edward F. and Roy L. Knowlton, five daughters, Mrs. Arthur L. Orne, Mrs. George A. Wooster, Grace E. Maude E., and Edna A. Knowlton; and three sisters—Mrs. Ada Hastings of Searsport, Mrs. George W. Parker and Miss Elizabeth Hewett of Waltham.

Nova Scotia lobster shipments will be received in Boston shortly, the smacks not having been able to set off sooner on account of the ice. The influx of the Canadian crustaceans will probably have the effect of reducing the existing retail prices, which are now very high. The smackmen in Penobscot Bay waters have been paying around 65 cents a pound. The ice has raised them with some of the lobstermen's gear. Some of the buoys and traps are said to have been carried five or ten miles.

QUALITY COBB'S SERVICE

ON OUTER ISLANDS

Work of Miss Edith Spiers, Red Cross Nurse, Has Been Fraught With Difficulties.

Under the terms of the will of the late Miss Jane A. Delano, who was a national director of Red Cross nursing service and chairman of the national committee at the time of her death in France in 1919, her entire estate was left as a memorial to her father and mother, to be used for the maintenance of public health nurses in territories that were unable to start and maintain a demonstration for themselves. The idea is to carry this service on under the Delano Fund until such time as it can properly be taken over by the local groups or the State. This may be from three to five years.

There are at present three appointments: One in Alaska, one in the mountainous region of North Carolina and one in the outer islands of the Maine coast. The last takes in Swan's Island, Atlantic, Minto, Cranberry Islands, Isleford, Little Deer Isle and Matinicus. Miss Edith Spiers, the nurse for this territory has been in Rockland for a few days, visiting Miss Reilly the Rockland Red Cross nurse.

Miss Spiers has been at Swan's Island for the past six months, and speaks very enthusiastically of the kindness shown her by the residents, and of the splendid co-operation of the two doctors. The work of a Public Health nurse in an ice-bound island community during a winter like the present, is not an enviable occupation. Crossing the island for five miles and back on skis, and walking through dense woods in a blinding snowstorm, alone and near midnight are only two of the many thrills this nurse has experienced.

Since her arrival in Swan's Island, she has established a health center in the former postoffice building, inspected all the school children, and will finish two classes in home hygiene and care of the sick. She has also equipped the classes by means of a fund collected about two years ago. An epidemic of grippe and flu, almost equal to the memorable one of war time has held the island in its grasp and made things rather lively for the nurse.

All connection with the other islands in her group is made by mail boat. As soon as weather conditions will permit, she is going to Cranberry Islands and expects to reach Matinicus, which is the most remote, about next winter. At present Miss Spiers has a patient at the hospital in Rockland for treatment and in the past she has brought several to Rockland for observation and treatment. Something during the year she hopes to spend some time in Vinalhaven demonstrating to the residents the great benefit they derive from this service and hopes to see a Red Cross nurse placed on the island in the near future. Vinalhaven and North Haven do not come into the group covered by the Delano service.

BUSTS INTO POTE-RY

Author of the "Rambling Susan" Shows Boze a Thing Or Two About Rhyme.

Rockport, March 20.

Editor of The Courier-Gazette:—

While the mercury was roosting on the zero mark, and the song of the snowbird was heard in the land, we grasped our pen in both hands resolved to make a mighty effort to write a spring "pote-ry." While posing in a Shakespearean attitude, waiting for inspiration, a bespectacled, bald headed hygiene crank, with a face full of dyspepsia and store teeth dropped in and got our ideas in a hopeless muddle, and here is the result:

My grandad was a fisherman,
A sturdy man was he;
He lived on Vinalhaven.

An island near the sea,
From his lonely old gray cottage
He never cared to roam;
He smoked his pipe, and drank his grog.
Within his humble home
No paintings graced his lowly walls,
No carpets on the floor,
The flies and blessed sunshine
Streamed through the open door.
He'd never sweat the pesky thing,
And often would declare
They doubled the fish bones,
And purified the air.

His conscience never troubled him,
His system knew no ills;
He ate and drank water 'e liked,
Yet owed no doctor bills.
In those days no doctor sought
No doctor did abide;
So through colds, and mumps, and measles,
He either lived or died.

He never had the time to shiver,
While rustling for his grub,
For a spinal adjustment,
Or an osteopathic rub.

For the number of calories
That dwell in a clam,
For proteins and vitamins,
He didn't give a darn.

Of interest he had never heard,
And so was not aware
They nested in his whiskers,
And rooted in his hair.

He had no fear of wicked germs,
Which in all things abode;
And when he died at ninety-odd,
His teeth and hair were good.

Now things ain't changed, not such a much,
Since my old grandad's day,
Although we have the benefit
Of treatments by Cope.

And all the drugs and medicines
And skill that wealth can buy,
Through colds, and mumps and measles,
Like him we live or die.

W. L. Clark.

CLOSE IN OLDTOWN

The closest contest for head of the ticket in the history of Oldtown Mayor Edward B. Weeks, Republican, won Monday by 10 votes over Ira E. Pinkham, the Democratic nominee. Weeks received 1,176 votes, and Pinkham 1,166. The Democrats elected six of the 10 aldermen; a reverse of the present complexion of the board, the Republicans carrying only wards 4 and 5. Two women were elected to office, Inez P. Miller as clerk of ward 4, and Mrs. Clara B. Mitchell, clerk of ward 5 committee. The proposition to increase the number of wards from five to six was defeated.

OVER THE GOVERNOR'S VETO

Senate By a Thumping Majority Shows Its Disapproval of the State Going Into Business of Developing Resources.

The Senate yesterday passed the Kennebec Reservoir Co.'s bill (noted in this column) over the Governor's veto by a vote of 22 to 7.

Lobsters from Nova Scotia are much more prolific than those caught along the Maine coast, Charles H. Boal of Jonesport told the Sea and Shore Fisheries committee Tuesday afternoon. The committee was hearing a bill which would eliminate from the law relating to the purchase of lobsters with eggs attached the words, "caught in the waters of this State."

"But one per cent of the lobsters caught on the Maine coast spawn, while at least 16 per cent of those caught in Nova Scotia waters spawn," said Capt. Boal. "The further east you go the more prolific are the seed lobsters, and I have seen at least 30 per cent of lobsters around Cape Breton bearing eggs, and nine-inch lobsters with spawn."

Clyde W. Pierce of the Willard Daggett Company of Portland favored the bill and declared that if the State spent what it should for seed lobsters, "We would have a $3,000,000 industry instead of a $3,000,000 industry."

Horatio D. Crie of Rockland, director of Sea and Shore Fisheries, insisted that when a lobster had been kept four months in a pound in Maine it should have acquired a residence here.

Representative Boman brought out the provisions of the law that the fishermen should be paid 15 per cent above the market price for the seed lobsters was optional and not obligatory. Director Crie said that the department had never had the money to pay the extra price. Mr. Pierce said that the dealers would be satisfied with receiving the market price.

Director Crie appeared for a special resolve of $3757 to make up for the deficit for the purchase of seed lobsters for 1922. He explained that these lobsters were bought by the department in good faith before the stop order came from the Governor and Council. Mr. Crie also appeared for an appropriation of $2000 for a new engine for the lobster patrol boat Pauline.

Much opposition developed to the bill introduced by Senator Emery of Washington, a member of the committee, which allows upland owners, when given permission by the selectmen or municipal officers to cultivate 80 per cent of their claim flats. Mr. Pierce and Representative Goldthwaite of the committee insisted that the 25 per cent provided by the old law was ample.

Senator Emery suggested that while the present law allowed the selectmen to grant the upland owners rights protection was not given to those rights. Representative Goldthwaite objected that an upland owner might "let the flats die out."

Mr. Pierce said that claims grew best when the flats were dug over. "All of the Scarborough flats have been dug over 50 times and there are always plenty of claims," Mr. Pierce's statement that he had seen claims grown between Memorial Day and Labor Day was met with a six inches was questioned by Representative Hobbs of Hope, who asked: "Didn't the claims move from one place to another? It doesn't seem as if they could have been the same claims. I've seen fresh water claims move about and make tracks all over the place."

"Eighty percent is altogether too much for the upland owner to be allowed to cultivate," objected Mr. Pierce. "The 80 per cent provision would work a great hardship upon the fishermen in our locality," said Capt. Boal. "If the upland owners exercised this authority it might happen in my town of Vinalhaven where there are many fishermen that they would have no place to dig claims for bait," said Representative Boman.

VETOES WATER POWER BILL

The bill creating the Kennebec Reservoir Co. was vetoed Tuesday by Gov. Baxter. In the course of an extended message he said: "Under this bill a private corporation is given one of the few remaining great undeveloped water storage reservoirs in the State of Maine. This storage is located in the Dead River region and its development is destined to take place in the near future. The question before the legislature is, shall a great storage reservoir of inestimable value be deeded to a private corporation to be used for private gain, or shall the people of this State retain it for themselves until they are given the opportunity to decide whether or not it shall be developed by the people in the interests of the people."

"This message constitutes the turning point in the water power question in the State of Maine. If you grant this franchise in my opinion you definitely and deliberately abandon the rights of the people in the water resources of the State. Should this bill become a law I predict that the water power question never again will be brought forward during the lives of any of the members of this legislature. The granting of this franchise means that private corporate control of Maine is the fixed policy of the State, and that the water power issue has passed into oblivion. The fight for the people's rights in Maine's water resources will be remembered as a lost cause. It however will not be forgotten that the people of Maine were deprived of their last remaining inheritance by an act of the 1st legislature."

The committee on legal affairs reported that ten pounds of fish, or one fish, taken legally in Moosehead Lake or in any other waters in Piscataquis county may be sent under transportation tag, whenever the same are legally in possession of the shipper during open season; ought to pass on an act providing that non-residents shall not hunt in unorganized territory during the months of May, June, July, August, September, October and November, without being in charge of a registered guide, and ought to pass on an act to constitute Gantekin park in Augusta a game sanctuary.

The committee on State schools and State reformatories reported ought not to pass on a resolve for the construction of modern institutional buildings at the State Reformatory for Men, and ought to pass on a resolve appropriating $40,000 for the constitution and equipment of an industrial building at the State Reformatory for Men.

The committee on legal affairs reported legislation in expedient on an act relating to children born out of wedlock and to make uniform the law relating thereto and ought to pass in a new draft on an act to amend the trustee process providing that the trustee shall pay to the defendant the amount exempt from attachment at the same time and in the same manner as if no process had been served.

LEGISLATIVE NOTICES

PENSIONS AND LABOR

The Committee on Pensions and Labor will hold its next session at the State House, in Augusta, on TUESDAY, March 27, 1923, at 2:00 P. M., on the following:

An act providing for the protection and assistance for aged persons under certain conditions in the State of Maine and prescribing penalties for violation of the provisions hereof and making appropriations for carrying out of its purposes.

JOHN F. WOOD, Sec.

MRS. J. C. BERRY

When Arabella D. (Jackson), wife of J. C. Berry, died at her home on South Main street March 10 the community lost a noble woman, who was the soul of devotion to her husband and children; a woman who always lent her sympathies and assistance when others were in distress; a woman whose passing has left its sad impress on the hearts of many devoted friends.

Mrs. Berry was born in Winterville in 1856, and was married half a century ago in Stockton Springs. The couple moved to this city 30 years ago. Mrs. Berry found her greatest enjoyment in the home circle to which 12 children had brought their brightening influence. Ten of these children are still living and eight of them were present at the funeral. The circle would have been complete but for the fact that the two absentees were separated from home by the country's length and breadth—a daughter, Mrs. Charles Wilson, residing in West Palm Beach, Fla., and a son, a noble man, residing in Santa Cruz, Calif. The children present were Mrs. Edna Gosselin of Ware, Mass.; Mrs. Lorena P. Simmons and Emory Berry of Dorchester, Harry Berry of Whitesville, Mass.; Mrs. Lottie Small of Waldoboro, Mrs. Dannie Morse of Rockland, Mrs. May Stetson of Waldoboro and Mrs. Celia Simons of Jamaica Plain, Mass. The other surviving relatives are the husband, Mrs. Berry's mother, Mrs. Susan Jackson of Belfast; and one sister, Mrs. Tina Hatch of Belfast.

Mrs. Berry had been a sufferer from asthma many years, but her last illness was of only six hours' duration, death being due to bronchial pneumonia. The funeral services were conducted by Rev. John M. Ratcliff of the Universalist church, which the deceased attended. Universal sympathy found its expression in the many beautiful flowers. The bearers were sons, Emory and Harry; and sons-in-law, Acel Morse and Frank Stetson. The remains were placed in the receiving tomb at Achorn cemetery.

The annual town meeting was held Monday, March 19. Officers elected were: Town clerk, Arthur Light; selectmen, Samuel Bartlett, Arthur Dodge, Arthur Light; treasurer and collector, Parker E. Marr; school committee, Mrs. Jennie Moore.

SOUTH SOMERVILLE

Master Harris Day, who has been quite ill with tonsillitis is able to be out again.

A. A. Bartlett was in Augusta Tuesday, March 20, in the interest of State roads for this town.

The annual town meeting was held Monday, March 19. Officers elected were: Town clerk, Arthur Light; selectmen, Samuel Bartlett, Arthur Dodge, Arthur Light; treasurer and collector, Parker E. Marr; school committee, Mrs. Jennie Moore.

HENRY EDWARD KREHBIEL

Noted New York Music Critic and Lecturer, Well Known in Rockland.

A New York despatch of Tuesday announced the death at the Roosevelt Hospital in that city, after a three days' illness, of Henry Edward Krehbiel, music critic and lecturer of international reputation and for the past 43 years connected with the New York Tribune.

Mr. Krehbiel was born in Ann Arbor, Mich., in 1854, and was educated in the public schools of Michigan and Ohio. He studied law in Cincinnati, but immediately after his graduation became music critic of the old Cincinnati Gazette. He joined the staff of the New York Tribune in 1880. During his long career as a critic of music, he travelled extensively, both in this country and abroad, and knew personally many of the outstanding music figures of the world. He was a member of the international jury of awards at Paris exposition, in 1900, and became a chevalier of the Legion of Honor in 1901.

Mr. Krehbiel had many friends in Rockland where at one time he was a frequent visitor, spending with his family several summers in succession at Cooper's Beach, of which spot he was exceedingly fond. Afterward he built a house at Bluehill where for the past twenty years he had made his summer home. He is survived by Mrs. Krehbiel and a daughter, Helen.

MAGNETIC MacDONALD

Revival Services At the Baptist Church Are Having Remarkable Success.

Gratifying audiences, increasing in numbers, greet Rev. J. Charles MacDonald each night at the pre-Easter services, now being held at the First Baptist church. Three hundred listened while Mr. MacDonald spoke on "The Greatest Thing In The World."

Tonight music will be furnished by a ladies quartette composed of Mrs. Lillian Joyce, Mrs. Lydia Strout, Mrs. Hattie Snow and Mrs. Rachel Browne. The men attending the services have arranged for a Men's Mass Meeting Sunday afternoon at 3 p. m. The committee in charge are R. S. Sherman, V. A. Leach, Ralph W. Richards, Ralph Stickney, George A. Brewster and Abner S. Palmer.

"Spiritual Dugouts Bombarded" and "The Big Tug of War" are coming subjects announced by Mr. MacDonald. Young people's night will be observed Friday.

Mr. MacDonald's subject Tuesday night was "The Plain Truth About Four People in Rockland," and, as might be expected, he had a highly interested audience. The evangelist said in part:

"I am glad that the four people of whom I am to speak are here tonight. You ask how I know they are here? Because no group of people like this can gather without these four people being among them.

"I know you did not ask me to come down to the city of Rockland to just simply sugar-coat everything but I believe you asked me to come down here to speak the plain truth. When you call in a doctor you do not want that doctor to diagnose your case and simply say 'you'll be all right,' and go away and leave you, but you want him to get at the trouble and if he needs to put the knife down to the very source of the trouble, and I believe that tonight that is the purpose of you men and women gathered here. Supposing it will hurt a little—yet I believe you wish me to speak the truth in love—realizing the need.

"The first person that I am going to speak about, who is living in the city of Rockland is the man who tells me 'I have never been interested in religion.' Do you ever stop to consider that statement? God Almighty is interested in religion. That is the thing that consumes God's thought and time—and yet you say you are not interested in it!"

"Look away into this wonderful universe. Supposing that the sun was 16 or 17 feet in diameter this world would be one inch in comparison. Then think of the earth, just a little speck of a thing in the midst—and you just one small atom in it—then can you look up in the face of God and say you are not interested in what God is interested in? Just look in Pilate's hall and see what Christ is going through at the hands of men—and then follow and see that Christ hanging on the cross of Calvary. And then you look up in the face of it all and say 'I am not interested in it.' Ungrateful! A stronger word than that should be used! But do you know why men say they are not interested in religion? The Bible tells, Turn to 2 Cor. 4:4, and you read 'in whom the God of this world hath blinded the minds of them which believe not, lest the light of the glorious gospel of Christ, who is the image of God, should shine unto them.' So the man who says he is not interested in religion says that Satan is winning out in his life.

"The second person is the one who, back 5 or 10 or 20 years ago, was almost decided to be a Christian. Back in the Bible your story is told. Look at Herod; look at the rich young ruler. He was so interested that he came running to Jesus, and asks what he must do. And Jesus says, 'Young man there is one thing you lack!' And He told him what it was. It was the willingness to put Jesus Christ first in his life. When he refused that, how could he serve Jesus? He was once interested, but lost his interest and slipped away. The man who has once been interested can never hold up the excuse that he did not know. There will be some at the judgment who will say, 'I never heard of Christ. I never heard the call of the Gospel! But to you God will say, Do you remember the day you were interested? That alone condemns you. The sad truth is that many men and women have gone to Christless graves who were once interested in religion, and Satan came and took that interest away, and they went out lost."

"The third person was once a Christian, but drifted back into the world. Why are people separated from Christ? Because they live too near the border line. Keep far from the boundary line between God's kingdom and Satan's kingdom. For if you don't before you get out, you are over on the other side, and sin has taken Christ out of your heart and you have lost your testimony for Him. When you drifted away you changed Masters. But I have a message of hope for the man or woman in that position. Try again! 'Thou shalt seek for me and find me when I shall search for thee with your whole heart.' If any man sin, we have an Advocate with the Father, Jesus Christ, the righteous. I am in trouble. Do I say, 'I guess I will have to go up to court?' No. I go and say, 'Mr. Lawyer, I am in trouble, and I cannot get out alone.' And so he comes on a certain day and lays my case before the judge, and the verdict comes back, 'Not guilty.' There is Christ your lawyer. You come and say, 'Oh, my Christ, my Advocate, my Lawyer—here is my case. Plead it with the Father?' And if Jesus pleads for you before God the answer will come back 'Forgiven!' And once more you can start out on the Christian life to heaven.

"The fourth person is just now, at this very moment, interested. I want to speak two words to you. I want to congratulate you that you are interested, and my second is a word of warning. I ask that you study these other three and realizing what it meant to them to shut out of their lives these things, do not let your interest pass now but while God's spirit speaks to you, look up and say, 'My God—I will accept your mercy through Jesus Christ!'"

PATRIOTIC PROGRAM

Marked McLain School's Acceptance of Flag Given By Community Food Fair.

The silk flag presented to the McLain School by the Community Food Fair was formally accepted yesterday in the presence of many guests. The flag is a handsome one, mounted on a heavy standard, with heavy gold braid and cord.

Supt. Harry C. Hull presided over the exercises in his usual easy manner and the school, packing stairs and halls to capacity, gave this program: America, first and last verses, school; A Flag Salute, Grade 4; The Story of Our Flag, Vora Nye; Your Flag and My Flag, Grades 2 and 3; Our Patriot Flag, Grade 7A; The Old Flag Forever, Hugh Elliot; A Civic Creed, Pearl Cohen, Mildred Hamilton, Virginia Winchenbaugh, Edward Allen and James Emery; In Flanders Fields, Parker Young; America Leads the World, Grade 8A; Love of Country, Carol Flanagan; Presentation of Flag.

In a clear and snappy presentation speech, A. C. McLean, in behalf of the flag committee of the Community Food Fair, thanked the pupils of McLain School for their spirit, and stressed the meaning of the flag and the inspiration it should give them. "You will have a chance to school in a few well chosen words and the meeting adjourned after the flag salute and the singing of The Star Spangled Banner.

Chairman Hull then called on various members of the Food Fair executive committee for short speeches. A. W. Gregory, G. H. Blethen, F. S. Rhodes, W. I. Ayer, H. C. Chatto, H. P. Blodgett, V. Cushman and J. M. Richardson responded. Mr. Ayer brought down the house by his boast of being a ball player, and Mr. Chisholm got a great hand on coming out flat-footed for the new school building.

Miss Harriet Trask, principal of McLain school, accepted the flag in behalf of her school in a few well chosen words and the meeting adjourned after the flag salute and the singing of The Star Spangled Banner.

"THE BIG GREEN TEAM"

Sets Rockland Polo Fans Wild With Enthusiasm—Superb Passing and Wonderful Juggling—Games Tonight and Friday Night.

A Rockland polo audience got its first view of an American League team Tuesday night, and ungrudgingly admitted that New Bedford has the goods. When Captain Duggan agreed to bring down the identical team that has been playing in the league all winter he made no idle promise, for it is the New Bedford professional team to a man, which is camping in Rockland this season.

Tuesday night's game presented a curious polo paradox, for while New Bedford was manifestly outclassing the home team, the whalers were being placed on the defensive to the extent of 54 stops by Welch, as compared with only 28 by Purcell. Which, being translated, means that Rockland made a stiffer attack on the New Bedford cage than the visitors did on Rockland's.

The big green team's superiority was found in the cleverness of its passing, which was by all odds the most scientific that has ever been seen in the Arcade. The visitors seemed to have uncanny intuition as to where the ball should be hit. Captain Duggan, who had been somewhat of a disappointment when he came here with the Portland team, did some amazing stunts in the way of juggling, and the crowd took its hat off to him. It's the Duggan type that makes polo a great game. His side kick, Wiley, is comparatively a youngster, but he worked to perfection with Duggan.

Everybody wanted to see the hard hitting center—Dufresne, the man who busts the boards. And while he probably wasn't demonstrating, the first three balls he hit in practice broke as many boards. It began to look as though there wouldn't be any risk left to play in. A good man is this Dufresne and every polo lover should see him in tonight's or tomorrow night's game. Gardner the New Bedford halfback is an old stager, but declines to grow old—or to slip. "Pete" Welch wears the family smile, and if he wasn't such a gosh-darned good goal tend there might have been roosters at the top of this story.

Wiley had rather a monopoly of the first period, scoring the two goals that were made. Took him nearly a dozen minutes to make the first, however. Rockland scored twice in the second period, but New Bedford was elusive, and the score was 5 to 2 in its favor when the last period opened. Rockland made two of the three goals in this chapter, so that there was not a very wide margin of victory for the Whalers in spite of the flashy exhibition they were giving.

St. Aubin drove in three of Rockland's four goals, and worked like a race-horse all the time. Bouchard, had been practically on the sick list for three days, but proved to be a pretty healthy invalid on the polo surface. Cusic wielded a busy stick and turned the invaders back time and again.

The score:
New Bedford..... Rockland

Polo Pointers
The Portland Express says that Red Williams and Gid Brown of the local polo team are baseball players as well as apple chasers. Red is an infielder, and has pastimed in the Western minor leagues, and has managed semi-pro clubs. Brown pitched for the Worcester team, and also has worked in the International circuit.

Dufresne was advertised as a board-splitter, and lived up to his reputation by smashing three boards at the western end of the rink with the first three balls he hit.

Portland Express: Expressing their best wishes to Portland fans and a hope that next season they might return again to this City, the Portland Bluebirds hit the trail South Monday. While Fred Jean, Kid Williams and Gid Brown are scattering themselves over New England, Red Williams and Freddy Pence are headed for home out West. "It's a great town and we've had a fine time here," said Spokesman

A LIVING CHURCH

What It Does For the Individual Citizen of Knox County

Religion is one of the deepest instincts of human nature. It has been conceded that there is no tribe or nation that is strictly atheistic. The religious instinct of the race is one of several factors that constitute human personality. It is a definite factor of the soul that requires as proper development as does the intellect, else there can be no complete realization of the meaning of eternal destiny. A soul, or personality, must be saved, regenerated, its divisive factor eliminated or it cannot see God. This divisive factor the Scripture calls Sin, and its product is death, not physical but spiritual.

The message of the church is the glad tidings of the Son of God; the purpose of the church is to call men to salvation through that message. The ultimate purpose of the message is the redemption of humanity and the establishment of the Kingdom of God.

Sin and death will yet be abolished. The challenge of the church is to the sinner. That includes man individually. Every man is responsible for his opportunity. He may accept or reject the message of the church. The result will be his own. Judas "went to his own place" self-prepared. You make your own choice.

The church makes its appeal. What will you do with it? Reject it and you are still under obligation to it, for it conserves the value of property; it furnishes the background of education; it provides the book on whose teachings you found your secret societies; it makes possible the great systems of modern philanthropy; it stands as a protest against all vice, crime, sin, shame and every destructive agency of life and society; conserving the moral value of life; it stands for the sanctity of your home and the welfare of its childhood; it ministers to you in the days of grief and sorrow with its message of comfort and hope; it offers the highest spiritual possibility of which your soul is capable and keeps open the door that leads to eternal life; it is the gift of God to man that provides the means and opportunity for fellowship with Him; it is the voice of Jesus Christ calling you to life and salvation. Neglect the church and its message and you pay the price for "whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap." (Rev.) J. M. Ratcliff.

X. COUNTERPOISE

Before leaving the subject of aerials like that of a condenser, except that it may be well to call attention to the device known as a counterpoise and which, for sending, is far superior to using a ground, while with small sets the advantages gained by a counterpoise in receiving do not pay for the trouble of installing the device. This is because the counterpoise, while adding to the sharpness of tuning with a receiving set and, therefore, aiding in cutting out interference, will also cut down the strength of the sounds received. Therefore, with a crystal set where amplification is not possible, the device is practically valueless, whereas, with a vacuum tube set with two or more steps of amplification, the counterpoise will prove a very distinct advantage. Many people consider this device a complicated and difficult affair, but in reality, it is as simple, if not simpler, than an aerial. A favorite form of counterpoise consists of several wires extending fanwise as shown in the figures, but a single wire will often give excellent results and the only way to determine the best number of wires to use is by experiment. Usually it is desirable to place the counterpoise below the aerial, but this is by no means essential as it may be run in the opposite direction from the aerial and still work exactly as well, for the device has little or no connection with the aerial. In fact, its action is more not only on account of it being an obstruction, but because it may be injured by people or animals or may be buried under snow in winter. It is better to raise it about six feet, or just high enough so people may pass beneath it. Stout posts with guy wires are the best supports, whereas, if the device is placed on the roof, the supports may be chimneys, walls, etc. If placed on a roof beneath an aerial leave all the space possible between the two, either by keeping the counterpoise low or raising the aerial. Where this is not convenient, the counterpoise may be run in another direction instead of being placed below the aerial wires.
